

Dear Friends,

As you have no doubt noticed, with every week that passes an increasing number of more or less dubious concoctions supposedly based on organic silica are being put on the market by fraudulent producers of so-called G5. In fact some of these outfits don't hesitate to make use of my name, to circulate forged documents, to plagiarise my writings, and to shamelessly reproduce testimonials sent originally to me.

The point of all this is simply to exert influence on those who use G5, and to confuse them to such an extent that they can no longer tell who is lying and who is telling the truth, or what is genuine Le Ribault and what is not.

Thus this site has several very clear objectives:

To re-tell the story of G5.

To provide maximum scientific information on the product.

To provide you with the means to question the 'organic silica merchants', and to make up your own minds about their professionalism and their honesty.

To tell you which company(ies) is (or are) marketing genuine G5.

To provide answers to the questions I am most frequently asked, and to give you the opportunity to be in direct contact with someone able to answer those queries which have not yet been covered on this site.

Thanking you for your confidence,

WELCOME!
